Summary of research and consultation carried out:

- Research of current training market and landscape;
- through professional bodies including CIPD, EHRC, ENEI, ACAS, etc.;
- as well as training providers such as Glasstap, Equality & Diversity Ltd, Skills Boosters, etc.
- Feedback from colleagues and delegates regarding the previous course has also been instrumental in informing the way forward.

Equality Ambassadors contacted:

(if none, please give reasons why)

Only two of the Equality Ambassadors responded; both commented that the content was interesting and covered requirements pretty well. No equality issues were raised.

Key issues identified: -

(Note here if you conclude there are no equality issues relating to the new / revised policy)
Feedback from delegates who have attended the one day course, has led to a number of refinements being made over the months it has been trialled, although these have tended to be regarding session content and impact. No equality issues have been raised with the material.

Changes made to new / revised Policy

As above, changes have been more focussed on session content than equality issues.

Review Process for Policy

L&D will review feedback received on an ongoing basis and make any changes highlighted by trends identified. L&D will react to changes in Equality legislation and developments and amend materials as required.
